RADIO-ING

The Air Waves.

BY WILL SMITH.

"Under Two Flags," with its drama, its music and its race track scenes, its campaigns in Algiers, fighting, cigarette, love, treachery—that Wednesday night was the feast served from the Sears-Roebuck station, WLS, at Chicago at 8 o'clock.

The Dial Twister saw it played when radio had no place in our lives, when radio had not even been dreamed of. While, until television is as accessible to the home as the radio receiver now is, the play or sketch, in our opinion, cannot equal the theater, we like to renew old acquaintances, especially those the radio receiver brings to us.

"My Melancholy Baby" came to us Wednesday night from KVKH and WSM, so after that we just tuned it out when we ran across it. And "Henry Ford Has Made a Lady Out of Lizzie" also was a popular number, but having received it from WSM early in the evening we didn't stop long when we heard it on two other stations during the early part of the night. Never a night goes by but "Blue Heaven" is at our finger-tips. What other ones, fans, do you find especially popular? Tell the Dial Twister. He's curious.

KVKH checked its wave length again Wednesday night just before 9 o'clock. This Shreveport radiophone station is laying low these broadcasts, who fail to stay put. WSM, of Chicago, coming in for a hazy ride the other night because of alleged interference in the middle west with the distance getting Shreveport set. The Dial Twister is heartily in favor of a station telling the fans which stations are causing interference with its programs.

Bobby Burns' birthday was observed Wednesday night by the Columbia broadcasting chain when the Cardinals played a melody of Scotch airs in commemoration of the day. We listened in to KMOX during the Co-dealt with by the radio commission as well as the local police.

We are listing the following programs as well worthy of your audience tonight:

7 o'clock—E. J. Brothers half hour—"Red" network.

7:30 o'clock—Hoover Sentinels—"Red" network.

UTILITY HEARINGS TO CLOSE TODAY

Washington, January 25.—(P)—Winding up hearings tomorrow on the Walsh resolution for investigation of the financing of public utilities, the senate interstate commerce committee will meet Saturday to determine what action it is to take.

An amendment to his resolution voluntarily offered by Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, does not meet with the approval of opponents of the inquiry and there will be further efforts at amendment in the committee by both democrats and republicans.

Committeemen generally are in agreement, however, that some sort of a resolution will be reported back to the senate. If the committee makes too many changes, the Montanan will undertake to have the senate undo its work and put the resolution through in the present form.

Under the Walsh amendment the committee would not be permitted to inquire into the affairs of any corporation engaged purely in intrastate business, which is not a subsidiary of or whose stock is not held or operations are not controlled to some extent by another corporation.

Resuming his statement before the committee today, James M. Emery, of the National Association of Manufacturers, said this modification "does not remove the objections to the resolution in the slightest, but only emphasizes them."

He said that the proposed special senate committee still could delve into the business of any purely local company if any amount of its stock were held by some other company.

Members of the family of Benjamin H. Black, insurance agent, have started a search for him, following his disappearance on Tuesday.

Black has a wife and four children. He formerly resided in Florence, Charleston and Rockwell, S. C., but had lived here for 18 years.

The rural ministers' conference is under way at the college this week. The closing session to be held Thursday with a discussion on the subject, "How Can the Rural Pastor and the County Agent be Mutually Helpful?"

Norman advocated the ultimate scrapping of the ad valorem system of taxation for state purposes. He said this would put Georgia on a plane with Virginia, North Carolina and other states which have abandoned the antiquated tax methods. He suggested an income tax coupled with a business or sales tax to take the place of ad valorem tax system for state needs, leaving the latter plan for the counties and municipalities to raise their revenues. He said that after the new plan of taxation is adopted the state could rapidly reach a position where it could abandon entirely the tax valorem system but until that time the property tax should be retained but in connection with the other two systems.

Virginia has made remarkable financial progress with the new tax system adopted two years ago, Norman said. The commissioner pointed out that three separate tax commissions, set up by act of the legislature and the governors under whom they served, all tax experts and economists of any importance and others who have made deep studies of the tax question have recommended the complete revamping of the Georgia tax system.

Colonel Houston is the former owner of the New York Yankees baseball team and retired New York sportsman and capitalist who has become interested in the development of the delta lands at the mouth of the Altamaha river in Georgia.

About three years ago Colonel Houston was induced to drain and develop several thousand acres of land near Darien and begin the cultivation of vegetables that would follow the early crops in Florida and he has met with wonderful success with the project. Much of the rich land he described in his speech has been drained and irrigated and put in a high state of cultivation and now returning as high as $1,000 per acre annually.

Altoona, Pa., January 25.—(P)—Clarence Chamberlin, conqueror of the Atlantic ocean by air, today met one of the hardest tests in his career as an aviator when, in the face of a near gale and snow, he attempted unsuccessfully to negotiate the dangerous air line over the Pennsylvania mountains.

The rugged mountains, held fast in the grip of winter, with the aid of the wind, threw back the challenger as he tried again and again to make a hop of less than 100 miles from Middletown, Pa., to Altoona. Chamberlin was forced to land twice and the second time he decided to give the decision to the elements by leaving his small Sperry plane in a Milling ball park and complete his journey to this city by train. The plane was not damaged. His first landing was made at Newport, Pa.

"It was the hardest flight I ever tried," said the aviator as he was met by a reception committee here.

Paris, January 25.—(P)—Paris put on her best garb today and welcomed Amanullah Khan, emir of Afghanistan, who with his queen is making a regal tour of Europe.

The spacious Avenue de Bois de Boulogne and the magnificent Champs Elysees were lined with troops, and thousands of Parisians stood behind the armed ranks as the king rode by resplendent in a uniform of red, grey and black. He was accompanied by President Doumergue and escorted by two mounted companies of the republican guard, their helmets and sabres flashing in the brilliant sunshine.

The queen, with her eastern veil cast aside revealing her face to the curious eyes of the west, followed in another car. She wore a heavy brown fur coat and her close-fitting brown hat with a diamond pin stuck perfectly at home in this capital of feminine style.

NORMAN SCORES AD VALOREM TAX

Athens, Ga., January 25.—Taxation and its relation to the farm problems of the state, parenthood and child training, price trends and cooperative marketing, together with vegetable production were among the principal topics discussed on the third day of the twenty-first annual farmers' conference at the State College of Agriculture here today.

Opening of the home economics conference at Camp Wilkins, with the annual address of Mrs. L. L. McMullen, president of the state demonstration council, and Dr. J. P. Bowdoin, of the state board of health, were among the features for Wednesday morning.

This morning R. C. Norman, state tax commissioner, and M. P. Jarman, State College of Agriculture, discussed "Taxation and the Farm Problem." Dr. B. Youngblood, United States bureau, of agricultural economics, discussed "The Investigation of Cotton by Grades and Staple Lengths." T. L. Huston, of Darien, spoke on "Developing Early Vegetable Production in Southeast Georgia."

C. L. McLain, United States bureau of economics, spoke on "Selling Super Farm Commodities," taking the place of Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture for Georgia.

Man Escapes One Crash; Is Struck Again, May Die

Quitman, Ga., January 25.—(P)—William Thompson of this city is in a dying condition tonight as a result of injuries received in a double accident about 6:30 p. m. on the Madison highway, two miles south of here. He was riding a motorcycle and was thrown 30 feet when it crashed into a wagon. He was not severely injured by the crash, but as he examined his wrecked machine a taxi cab, its driver blinded by the lights of a car that had stopped to view the motorcycle, crashed into him, dragging him for several feet and inflicting injuries from which doctors say he cannot recover.

JADWIN AND REID
CLASH IN FLOODS

Washington, January 25.—(AP)—Charges flew thick and fast today in the hearing of the house flood control committee, resulting in a dispute among the committee members and the dismissal of Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, from the witness stand.

Chairman Reid ordered another witness to take General Jadwin's place before the committee after the army engineer chief had said he was not prepared to answer questions. After an executive session of the committee, it was indicated the general might be called later, but he did not appear at a session later in the day.

The general's chief, Secretary Davis, however, will be a witness tomorrow, Mr. Reid announced.

General Jadwin then testified that he had declared the committee was formulating "an indefinite and hazy" project for the control of the Mississippi valley floods.

The army engineers "have a definite project and it is to be used for the benefit" of the valley, the general said.

Jadwin also had been asked to amplify a declaration that a criticism of the army plan by Governor F. D. Samsom, of Kentucky, contained "great many mistakes." The governor had termed the army plan which had been prepared by General Jadwin and recommended to congress by President Coolidge as "economically impossible and impractical."

Reid's questioning of the general caused a controversy among the committee members. Representative Knapp, of Iowa, a republican, characterized it as "an outrage," while Col. of Georgia, a democrat, termed Jadwin's answers as "insulting to the committee."

The people of the Mississippi valley have reached a state of affairs because of the flood danger, that they do not know what to do next, ex-Governor Parker told the senate committee. He said that Louisiana had been taxed already to the extent of $292,000,000 for flood control and this plainly showed a desire on the part of its inhabitants to do their share of the work. He made a plea that the federal government should assume complete control of the river from the standpoint of national defense, emphasizing the important part played by the valley during the world war.

The former Louisiana executive described the hardships of low spring flood and lauded the work of Secretary Hoover and the Red Cross in saving life during the inundation.

Former Senator Perry declared that he favored the Mississippi river commission's flood plan which proposes a $775,000,000 expenditure over the Jadwin $292,000,000 project.

The comprehensive plan of the commission is adequate and would protect against a flood 25 per cent greater than that of last year," he said.

The Jadwin plan and as its key note "economy obtained by a failure," he asserted.

SUN LIFE COMPANY
ABSORBS CONCERN
IN SPOKANE, WASH.

News of one of the most important financial transactions in the insurance field within the last decade was received late Wednesday.

Wilson, Georgia manager for the Sun Life Insurance Company of Canada, which announced that the Canadian company had taken over the Western Union Life Insurance company, of Spokane, Wash.

The transaction, announcement of the consummation of which was just made public upon receipt of the telegram, involves the absorption by the Sun Life Insurance company of $90,000,000 in policies held by 50,000 policyholders in 19 states.

Included in the transaction were assets of the Western Union company, amounting to more than $12,000,000, Mr. Wilson added.

Purchase of the American concern by the Sun organization, Mr. Wilson asserted, indirectly will have a beneficial effect upon policyholders of the major company in Georgia.

"This transaction," Mr. Wilson declared, "enhances the standing of the Sun Life Insurance company and will have a beneficial bearing on policyholders as a whole. They will be protected with a company of more than $100,000,000 assets, and the company is established firmly as one of the leading insurance concerns in the world."

$10,000,000 Gas
And Oil Tax Seen
In State in 1928

With collection of $703,849 in gasoline and oil taxes during December, 1927, annual revenue in 1928 from this source will aggregate approximately $10,000,000, according to estimates obtained Wednesday at the office of General William A. Wright, state comptroller.

According to figures compiled by William B. Harrison, chief clerk, the revenue for December, 1927, was much greater than the average for the corresponding month of the previous year. As December and January usually show the lowest amount of collections for the year, due to the fact that automobile owners do not use their cars as frequently in cold weather as in the warmer months, the other months of this year will show larger totals than the December figure.

LOCAL MERCHANTS TO MEET TONIGHT

Robert C. Alston, general counsel for the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association, will deliver the principal address at the annual meeting of the organization tonight at the Biltmore hotel, marking the fourteenth anniversary of the association.

More than 400 members and guests are expected to attend the meeting, for which an elaborate dinner and entertainment program has been arranged. The meeting will be held in the ball room of the hotel, and in addition to Mr. Alston, a number of speakers are to deliver addresses, including the annual report of Walter O. Foote, the retiring president.

Nominations and election of officers for the ensuing year, as well as the report of the executive secretary on special phases of the association's work, will augment the business program of the meeting, while the dinner will be featured by musical and other entertainment presentations.

The subject of Mr. Alston's address will be "What the Future Holds for Retail Merchants," and because of his long association as counsel for the merchants' organization and his intimate knowledge of the problems facing the retailers, it is expected that his address will contain much of interest to the business life of Atlanta.

In addition to Mr. Foote, the retiring officers of the association are John C. Saxe, first vice president; Harry Sumner, L. M. Anderson, J. O. McKee, George Beck, Nat. Ullman, Carleton Smith and William M. Todd, vice presidents.

Invitations to tickets have been widely disseminated among the members of the organization and additional tickets have been placed among representatives of virtually every business concern in the city, it was announced.

Mathis, Terrell county; W. E. Morgan, Haralson county; J. R. McElmurray, Richmond county; P. C. Newton, Morgan county; C. E. Oliver, Chatham county; G. O'Kelley, Clark county, and W. H. FRIGIDAIRE DISPLAYS
IMPROVED MODELS

Many improvements, providing unusual beauty and increased mechanical efficiency, are outstanding features of a new series of household electric refrigerators placed on display Wednesday by Atlanta sales branch of the Frigidaire corporation.

Announcement of the new models is being made today by Frigidaire corporation throughout the country.

The new cabinets are white, with gray trimmings, and are porcelain finished inside and out.

The entire Frigidaire field organization will receive detailed explanation of improvements in the new models during a series of regional meetings to be held in February. Salesmen and dealers will obtain their first view of the new cabinets, in many cases, at these one-day regional conventions to be held in the following cities: Dayton, Chicago, Omaha, San Francisco, Dallas, Atlanta, New York and Boston.

"The trend in kitchen beautification receives new impetus with announcement of these new Frigidaire cabinets," the announcement said. "Every unit of this series is an unusually handsome piece of kitchen furniture, easy to keep clean and a source of delight to the lover of beauty."

A new water cooler, selling at a low price, is being announced at the same time by Frigidaire corporation. Considerable widening of the present field for electric refrigeration equipment is expected to result, according to the announcement.

MAN FOUND DEAD
ON TRACKS THOUGHT
TO BE ARKANSAN

The unidentified dead man found Saturday morning near the Bankhead avenue bridge between the parallel tracks of the Southern railway and the W. & A. railway may have been Taylor C. Carpenter, 30, of Little Rock, Ark., according to a letter received Wednesday by police from E. E. Atkinson, of that city.

Atkinson said that Carpenter answered the description of the dead man, and that he was on his way east about the time the dead man was found. Carpenter had a butterfly tattooed on the outside of his left forearm, as had the dead man, Atkinson said. Carpenter's description, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and dark brown hair, tallies with that of the dead man, it was said.

Atkinson said Carpenter's father is J. J. Carpenter, who lives in San Angelo, Texas. The dead man is at the funeral parlors of T. C. Bazemore.

VET'S WIDOW FAILS TO GET INSURANCE

Chicago, January 25.—(AP)—The 66-year-old widow of the late Major General George Bell, Jr., commander "over there" of the thirty-third division, has failed in a fight for her husband's $10,000 government insurance, the Herald and Examiner said today.

Eight months before his death, 1926, Major General Bell converted his regular $10,000 war insurance policy into a life insurance policy, as provided by congress. At the time, according to the Herald and Examiner, he was unaware that he was suffering from any ailment. One question asked in connection with the insurance change was whether the applicant was ill, and to this Major General Bell replied in the negative.

When he died, however, it was found that he had been suffering for some time, unknown to himself, from pernicious anemia. It was upon this ground that payment of the $10,000 was refused.

Mrs. Bell now receives $87.50 a month from the government, representing $30 pension and $57.50 allowance for the widow of a world war veteran incapacitated.

Mrs. Bell now lives in Rockford, Ill., dependent, the newspaper said, on the $87.50 a month and a "very small income" left by her husband.

Pastor Asks Quiz
On Companionate
Marriage Idea

Jacksonville, Fla., January 25.—(AP)—A state-wide conference of Florida circuit court judges to consider companionate marriage and other ameliorative plans as a solution to present divorce and domestic problems is sought by Dr. James C. Coleman, United Liberal church pastor, of Jacksonville, in a letter to Judge Daniel A. Simmons, seventh judicial circuit.

Companionate marriage is one of the foremost ideas for solution of domestic problems in the public mind at this time, Dr. Coleman declared in urging the judges to give their earnest attention to the thought.

"Cannot Florida take the initiative," asks Dr. Coleman, "by calling a state-wide conference of circuit court judges to consider the various ameliorative plans that have been offered and to then suggest some rounded legislative action? The situation calls loudly for some method of betterment."

21 Years for Boy Robber

Baltimore, January 25.—(AP)—Charles Hook, 19-year-old "filling station bandit," was sentenced to serve 21 years in the penitentiary after pleading guilty to seven holdup robberies. The sentences of three years for each of the crimes will run consecutively. The youth's mother and his 18-year-old sister screamed and fainted when the sentence was pronounced.

IRISH PRESIDENT
CONGRESS VISITOR

Washington, January 25.—(AP)—President William T. Cosgrave, of the Irish Free State executive council, today paid a debt of 150 years standing.

Addressing the senate after he had shaken hands with each of its members in an impromptu reception, the free state executive said: "Benjamin Franklin came to my country a hundred and fifty years ago and told the Irish parliament that the Irish people and the Americans alike were fighting for freedom. I have now come to repay the visit of that great man."

The visit to the senate was the climax of the third busy day the Irish president has spent in Washington. It came after he had first paid homage to the father of the country during a visit to the home of George Washington at Mount Vernon and had visited informally with representatives during a recess of the house. He left behind him a message addressed through Speaker Longworth and the members of the house to the American people expressing gratitude for American assistance in the fight for Irish freedom.

The message was read to the house just after the Irish president had concluded a visit there.

'Jingle' Judges
Will Announce
Winners Sunday

BY ALBERT HARDY, JR.
Jingles by the hundreds are in the mail addressed to the judges in The Constitution's "Jingle" contest. It is expected that they will be judged in time for announcement in Sunday's Constitution of the three winners, and that the three awards, $10 for first prize, $5 for second prize and $2.50 for third prize, will be available to the three school children who sent in the best jingles.

The contest was declared by those sponsoring it to have been the most successful in the history of the milk campaign in Georgia. The results, in numbers of jingles, the literary value and the unique ideas presented, far exceeded expectations of the judges and The Constitution.

Work of this nature was said Wednesday by those interested in the contest at the Georgia State College of Agriculture to have lasting effect on those who take part in it.

The interest aroused in the schools of Fulton, DeKalb and Cobb counties was declared to be a big step toward the ends which the sponsors of the "Milk for Health" work are seeking to attain.

The Constitution contest closed at 6 o'clock Monday night. All jingles received after that time are not acceptable in the contest.

COMMITTEE BILL
ON SHOALS DRAWN

Washington, January 25.—(AP)—Operation by the secretary of agriculture of the government's properties at Muscle Shoals, Ala., for the experimental manufacture of fertilizer and of nitrate ingredients for use in munitions was recommended to congress today in bill form.

The measure also proposed that the secretary of war be authorized to either lease or operate for a 20-year period the power plants at the shoals proper.

Chairman Morin of the house military committee, which has jurisdiction over such legislation, in introducing the measure declared in a statement that it was substantially in line with the views given to the committee by the secretary of agriculture.

Under the measure the profits derived from the sale of fertilizers, nitrates and power would be deposited in a special fund in the treasury. An appropriation of $2,000,000 to carry out the provision would be authorized, the amount subsequently to be repaid from the profits.

"In view of the widespread demand in the south," said Morin, "that the power developed at Muscle Shoals not used in making fertilizer belongs to the public and should be equitably distributed, the proposed legislation provides for such distribution of excess power, insuring, however, terms that will bring reasonable return."

The bill was referred to the military committee where a number of other proposals for disposition of the properties are pending.

SECRETARY M'LENDON'S
CONDITION IS CRITICAL

Secretary of State S. G. McLeLendon is in critical condition in his room at the Henry Grady hotel, where he is suffering from a severe attack of illness, it was learned at his office Wednesday. Secretary McLeLendon was stricken before Christmas but was able to return to his office for a few hours last week. He suffered a relapse, however, and his condition is said to be serious.

'Lord Beaverbrook' Pained By Accuser's Vocabulary

BY SAM LOVE.

United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, January 25.—(United News.)—A shudder such as shakes a lordly pine tree in a gale passed through the aristocratic frame of

"Lord Beaverbrook," alias Robert

Whitman, Karl von Edwards and other fancy monikers, when middle-aged Mrs. Rose Burken today told general sessions court "he rushed me

quick."

As is well known, his nibs is standing trial for grand larceny, first degree, on the charge that he told this

Mrs. Rose Burken she was the image of Nora Bayes, the actress, and shortly thereafter went south with between $70,000 and $80,000 of the Mrs. Rose

Burken jewels.

It was plain while Mrs. Burken was telling the jury her simple tale, that the old fruit she was trying to talk into Sing Sing wished that she would be a little more choice in her language.

A man has a reputation to keep up.

While awaiting trial, "Lord Beaverbrook" has been happily writing his memoirs for the Sunday supplements.

The "Lord Beaverbrook" of the memoirs would never go south with $70,000 worth of jewelry after rushing someone quick.

The "Lord Beaverbrook" of these memoirs of an amorous life is not only the blue-eyed, wavy haired, predictory-nosed and immaculately groom-ed gentleman in the defendant's chair,

but he would recoil at rushing a lady

quick.

When Mrs. Burken said this, his embellished lip curled a slender, deprecatory hand toward the press

table in mute appeal for understanding.

But the gesture brought within range of his vision a new factor in the case. It was a beautiful blond creature in a big yellow fur coat who later identified herself as Mrs. Virginia Cameron Martin, of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Martin let it be known that she was the most recent "Lady Beaverbrook," as it were, and that she was on the spot to see justice done.

She had seen "Lord Beaverbrook's" recent pictures in the newspapers.

"Why, there's hubby!" had said

Mrs. Martin, whereupon she set sail for New York.

Mrs. Martin indicated that she had probably $10,000 worth of the stuff which Mrs. Burken had given her as wedding presents, and which Mrs. Burken, the one who looks like Nora Bayes, identified as part of the Burken family jewels and clothing.

His nibs nodded brightly to Mrs.

Martin, who looked him right in the twinkling eyes. Now, there was a wife a man would be proud to own a dozen of.

Mrs. Burken's son-in-law, Murray

Brant, corroborated Mrs. Burken's

testimony concerning the description and value of the jewelry. Much of it, alas, was put into evidence through

That's GOOD News

When you can save a fourth on the purchase of a suit or overcoat, that's good news. If economy is one of the virtues you cultivate, this is a good time to see it function in actual practice.

Our entire line of winter suits and overcoats, formerly $20 to $55, has been scaled down in price—$15 to $41.25.

You may not actually have need for such things now, but will need them later, so it behooves frugal people to take advantage of such opportunities to save.

The Automobile Show

--- A Significant Event

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO, The Fourth National Bank, recognizing the automobile as transportation, not only did not share the misgivings with which the financial world in general regarded the automobile trade, but on the other hand readily extended every sound banking facility to the development of the automobile business in Atlanta.

Naturally then The Fourth National became the banking home of a large proportion of the automobile enterprises as they were established, and enjoy the privilege of intimate and extensive co-operation with them while they made Atlanta the automotive center of the south.

So it is a peculiar pride that The Fourth National feels today in the soundness and bigness of Atlanta's automobile trade, and in the vast part automotive transportation plays in our section's present-day economic life. Truly the Automobile Show is a significant event, impressively demonstrating the remarkable development that this gigantic industry has achieved in the comparatively brief period of its existence.

His nibs won her confidence with flowers, perfumes, a tea or two at the Ritz and fine words, Mrs. Burken testified. Her voice broke with emotion as she described one ring set with five diamonds, "the center stone four and one-half karats and the other four the pure karats."

The defendant dabbed his brow

with a silk handkerchief, wiping away

the beads of sympathy.

"He said he would take them and get them insured for me, and like a fool I gave them to him," said Mrs.

Burken. She denied with horror that she had told Whitman he could pawn

them.

The second jury to try the false entry in the Almanac de Gotha was obtained during the morning. It consisted, at his nibs's behest, almost exclusively of married men. The first jury was discharged when Judge Allen declared a mistrial because Assistant

District Attorney Albert Unger en-

BUILDING AND LOAN CO. SUSPENDS BUSINESS

Miami, Fla., January 25.—(A—)

The Dade County Security company,

one of the nation's largest building and loan associations, with assets listed at approximately $18,000,000, suspended business today and was taken over by the state banking department,

"for the protection of creditors and shareholders."

The concern recently was brought into public notice by a 24-hour re-ceivership on petition of shareholders whose holdings amounted to little more than $3,000. Judge Henry D.

Clayton in federal court dissolved the receivership after a hearing in which most of the financial and legal leaders of Miami intervened in its behalf.

E. M. Porter, state bank examiner, has been several days investigating the affairs of the security company. He said he had found "a case of violation of state banking laws or rules," and that the suspension of business appeared to be "necessitated

by external conditions" to be threats of the status of the institution in danger from day to day, and kept its affairs in turmoil.

"Under the existing conditions," Mr.

Porter said, "it would have been impossible for anybody to operate the business profitably and successfully."

The business will be reopened, Mr.

Chase declared, though he could not say whether it would be days or months before the reopening. He said an effort would be made to reduce it to a $10,000,000 operating basis instead of the present $18,000,000.

ATLANTA AWARDED APPLE WEEK PRIZE

For the third successive year Atlanta has been awarded the National Apple Week trophy for cities in the 200,000 to 300,000 population class.

It was announced Wednesday by J.

L. McCord, Atlanta produce executive, following receipt of a telegram from Rochester, N. Y., announcing the award.

Although nearly a score of cities as large or larger than Atlanta participated in the national contest, the Georgia capital virtually walked away with the trophy, Mr. McCord stated.

The choice was based on the municipities in each particular population class which disseminated the best publicity stimulating interest in "Apple Week," and although Atlanta was sponsored by numerous cities more advantageously located, the contest committee decided that this city had done more than any of its competitors.

Announcement that Atlanta had been awarded the trophy was contained in the following telegram received by W. G. Merrin, chairman of the Atlanta Apple Week committee, in charge of the local phase of the contest.

"Atlanta awarded first prize cities of its class, 1927-1928. Apple Week trophy will be forwarded soon. On behalf of officers and members of this association, wish to thank you and your associates for your wonderful contribution to apple publicity. Hearty congratulations.

The following are among the cities which participated in the contest:

Seattle, Akron, Toledo, Columbus,

Ohio; Denver, Louisville, Omaha,

Portland, Oreg.; St. Paul, Rochester,

Oakland, Calif., and Providence.

In commenting on the triumph, Mr.

McCord yesterday declared that the produce men of the city "are natually very proud of their victory in such a wide field of competition where nothing but the real goods count, and the judges are in actual, composed mostly of eastern and western men."

"This distinct honor, Mr. McCord added, "comes to Atlanta largely through the efforts of our able chairman, W. G. Merrin. The committee headed by Mr. Merrin, was composed of Andrew V. Blank, M. McCullough,

Jr., T. L. Hoskins, J. C. Loeb and myself, and worked overtime, doing more than their share toward attaining the goal."

Mr. McCord also expressed the appreciation of the produce men of the city for what he characterized as "the unselfish cooperation of all the Atlanta daily papers, as well as that of the Consolidated Apple Growers' Exchange, of Cornelia, Ga., and other exchanges throughout the state."

Board of Governors Elects Local School to Membership

L. W. Arnold, Pres

Read what the National Association stands for, what is required of the schools which it admits as members, and what it means to those who attend a school which is accredited by this Association

THIS association is definitely committed to the policy of requiring Accredited schools to do a grade of work and to maintain business and ethical standards that will give them special distinction and definite recognition on the part of the public as superior business training schools. Through its education committee the association cooperates with the individual school in the betterment of its course of study, and with the United States Bureau of Education, State Departments, and accrediting agencies of the public school system throughout the United States and Canada in the raising of standards in business education both in private and in public schools. The better Business Bureau desires to establish and maintain in Accredited schools business practices in harmony with the most advanced standards fixed by the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, the United States Chamber of Commerce, and other forces whose purpose is the correction of all types of faults in business administration.

THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF ACCREDITED COMMERCIAL SCHOOLS was formed in Chicago, December 12, 1912, with a charter list of twenty-two schools. It now has in membership over three hundred of the leading private business schools of the United States and Canada, and is adding to its list as rapidly as qualified schools can be examined and approved for membership. The fundamental purpose of the Association is the development and maintenance of better educational standards among its own membership and in commercial schools of every other class as well. Better educational standards mean greater efficiency on the part of graduates, a stronger demand for their services, an increased attendance, and a more satisfactory standing for commercial schools among educational institutions of all classes. The Association seeks to educate the general public and especially the business community to an understanding of the fact that a business education means a definite amount of training along definite lines for definite purposes. This is accomplished through the standardization of courses of study.

Benefits of Organization

By reason of the cooperative efforts of schools in the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools, certain advantages are provided for the student which could not otherwise be enjoyed. There is a type of Free-Masonry among students and graduates of Accredited schools that makes for good fellowship. Students and graduates changing their places of residence will find friends in other Accredited schools throughout the United States and Canada. Since the reputation of a student can be no better than that of the school from which he is graduated, it is important that young people should attend schools whose public standing will give prestige in the business field.

Requirements for Admission to Membership.

Schools are required to maintain such quarters and equipment as will meet the requirements of the community in which the school is located. Inadequacy in these particulars will subject the school to an adverse report upon inspection. The advertising of Association Schools must be dignified and in every respect honest—not even indirectly misleading.

Some of the Standards of Practice.

The members of this Association are definitely committed to the policy of raising the educational and business standards of the individual schools of the Association, to the end that the whole system of commercial education in the United States may be constantly improved.

Each Member of the Organization Must—

Maintain such policies and practice as will reflect credit upon the cause of business education, and that will command respect in all business relations with students and with the general public. Provide such quarters and school equipment as approved by the Association. Meet the minimum requirements of such standard courses of study as may be approved by the Association and offered by the school. Use such texts as are generally regarded as standard, or such as may be approved by the Association.

Room At the Top for Thoroughly Trained Stenographers, Bookkeepers and Typists

The day has come when the Commercial World, in order to keep pace with the progress of the times, demands greater efficiency of its employees—bookkeepers and accountants who are more competent; stenographers and typists who are experts in their art; secretaries and cashiers who are eminently efficient. Young men and young women who have not been thoroughly trained in these professions, far better than yesterday, are not wanted, and they necessarily drift into secondary, small-paying positions which require only mediocre ability. Good positions are always open to those who can perform their work with adeptness, rapidity and accuracy.

While the Southern Shorthand and Business University has endeavored through many years in the past, to supply business firms with its quota of competent office help, he it known to all young people that it has recently, and at great expense, raised its STANDARD of tion—Deal fairly and in a dignified manner with all classes of competition. Refrain from knowingly inducing students to leave other schools or institutions of learning, either public or private. Make no misleading statements or misrepresentations of any kind, either in person or through any agent. Refuse, either directly or indirectly, to guarantee positions to prospective students. Pay legitimate debts promptly. Maintain throughout the school such standards of character and reputation as will promote high moral ideals. Cultivate within the school and in the community where the school is located the highest standards. Report promptly to the chairman of the Better Business Bureau any violation of the Standards of Practice. Submit to arbitration any difficulty or disagreement with any other member that cannot be adjusted through The Better Business Bureau.

Some of the Regulations and Standards for the Accreditation of Private Commercial Schools.

The Association will decline to consider any school that has not been regularly inspected and recommended for accreditation. All members of the board of governors shall be ex-officio inspectors. In addition, the board of governors shall appoint such other inspectors as may seem necessary.

No school shall be accredited which does not require as a minimum for graduation, courses of study which qualify its students to meet the business world.

The efficiency of instruction, the acquired habits of thought and study and the general intellectual and moral tone of the school itself are paramount factors and therefore such schools which rank well in these particulars as evidenced by rigid, thoroughgoing, sympathetic inspection shall be considered eligible for accreditation.

No school shall be accredited whose salary schedule is not sufficient to command and retain teachers whose qualifications are such as is necessary to render high-class instruction. The interpretation of this requirement shall be a matter of special responsibility for the inspectors.

Regular students shall be of, or beyond, high school grade; others shall be classified as special students.

PRAYER—May our righteousness, Lord, ever reveal itself in loving kindness.

THE TRUTH AT LAST.

Finally the truth has come out—whether all of the truth remains yet to be ascertained.

At any rate, according to testimony of Albert B. Fall's son-in-law, the former—then secretary of the interior—received $233,000 in Liberty bonds from Harry F. Sinclair subsequent to the Teapot Dome oil reserve lease.

These bonds, the equivalent of money, it is claimed were passed for payment in "an interest" in the Fall ranch, and for "stock" in one of Fall's corporations. The title to the "ranch interest" and the "cattle and land company" were neither delivered, according to the banker son-in-law, testifying before the senate investigating committee, of which Senator Walsh, of Montana, is chairman.

Thus the plot thickens. While the former secretary declares the "deals" were legitimate, the courts, from the lower courts to the United States supreme court, have declared the whole lease transactions—Fall acting for the government in disposing of valuable oil reserve lands to private interests—were shrouded in corruption and fraud.

It will be recalled that these Liberty bonds were in addition to the $100,000 in cash in "the satchel" that came from Doheny and other large amounts, making the Fall income from the two oil magnates a total of $394,000. This is the first definite testimony as to how Fall came into possession.

And yet Fall is at liberty, and has been through all of these years—No wonder the nation rings with the scandalous situations in this country arising from the failures of criminal law administration.

HEFLIN "ONLY JOKING."

It took the denunciation of several of the leading newspapers in Alabama, including the rock-ribbed old democratic Montgomery Advertiser, a telegram signed by two citizens of Anniston inviting Senator Robinson there to deliver his address on tolerance, and perhaps a large number of private letters and telegrams from constituents to the Alabama senator—the number will never be known—to convince the fiery Alabama son of a gun that he was "only joking," when he declared that "tar and feathers" would await the democratic senate leader if he dared to defend the guarantees of the federal constitution as to religious liberty in the state of Alabama.

Senator Hefflin didn't say he was "joking" during the debate with Senator Robinson, or even after the "heat of passion" had passed, or should have passed following his threat of violence, which he, by his very words and attitude, showed an implied disposition to encourage. He didn't appear before the conference of democratic members, which he provoked, then invited and then avoided, to say he was "only joking."

That he spoke impulsively, and perhaps now regrets it, there is little doubt. But the United States senate is a great deliberative body. It is not a "rough and tumble debating society." A man fitted to belong to that body ought to be fitted to speak with force but with discretion.

There is no mistaking the fact that he slandered his own state. There have been "night riders," and floggings and mob violence practiced in Alabama, as unfortunately in other states, but in a state so shrouded in the dear old traditions of the south as Alabama, such a thing as "tarring and feathering" a United States senator, or any other outstanding citizen, for standing firmly by the tenets of the organic laws created by the fathers, and upon which the institutions of our government are founded, is unthinkable.

Joking or not joking, fun or folly, Senator Hefflin spoke as quoted, and then raged with the newspapers because he was quoted. He will thus have to stand the consequences.

Declaring that some person's in-laws belonged to another than the Protestant church, or that some other man had on one occasion, as a lawyer, defended some person who was not a Protestant, and all that sort of bunk, does not soften his words, or acquit him of a reckless, inflammatory and slanderous threat at mob violence delivered on the floor of the senate.

TEN-DAY STOPOVER.

At the recent meeting of the Southeastern Passenger association in Miami a ten-day stopover in Atlanta on all through tickets from all points going north, south, east or west was granted, this applying to all member carriers of the association.

This granted privilege, which has been urged unsuccessfully for years, of tremendous advantage to the city and will give thousands of tourists and other travelers opportunities for visits to Atlanta, without additional transportation costs or any cancellations of unused portions of tickets.

It will mean that Atlanta, the metropolis of the southeast, and the golf, theatrical and cultural center of this great section, as well as the financial and mercantile center, will have hosts of visitors each day who would not stop en route if penalized in transportation costs for doing so.

The Stone Mountain Memorial association took a commendable leadership in having this privilege granted. The association is making progress at Stone Mountain, and the registrations of visitors at the present time show more than a thousand a week, while great numbers of visitors, of course, do not register.

It is safe to say the "ten-day stopover" in Atlanta will be worth millions of dollars a year to the trade interests of this city, in addition to permanent acquisitions that may be made from the favorable impressions created upon visitors who may be seeking southern locations for homes and for businesses.

REAR ADMIRAL BLUE.

The death of Rear Admiral Victor Blue, a North Carolinian, while en route to Washington for hospitalization, carries deep sorrow to thousands of civilian friends throughout the country, and to the entire personnel of the American navy, with whom he was extremely popular.

He was a vigorous, virile figure in the navy. He was one of the outstanding heroes of the Spanish-American war, having been advanced five numbers for his heroism and skill. He was awarded a medal by congress subsequent to that war for "specially meritorious service."

At the beginning of the world war he was chief of the bureau of navigation. He was later placed in command of the battleship Texas, serving with the British grand fleet, and took active part in receiving the surrender of the German fleet. He served with Admiral Beatty, British sea lord, in the North sea in 1917-1918, and was awarded the distinguished service medal.

Admiral Blue was well known in Atlanta, and frequently visited the city. He was one of the truly great men of the navy who did not assume an attitude of pomposity, nor did he seek glory except that which naturally came to him by his outstanding services. He was a patriot. He loved the navy. He loved his country. He left a record that will live in history.

The government is having four planes built which will have an altitude range of eight miles. It should remember Icarus, who flew too high and had his wings melted by the sun.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Balzacian Tale.

A deaf-mute, who has never learned the usual sign language was tried in a Paris court on a charge of murder, and acquitted after minutes, and been resorted to in the taking of evidence. The defendant had lived as a tenant in the makeshift home of the man whom he killed. The landlord was a drunkard. One day he returned more drunk than usual, struck the daughter of the former singer who formed a part of the household and began to beat the woman. Deaf-mute, the deaf-mute, attempted to calm him but failed and fired two revolver shots in the air. The hearing continued. Deaf-mute, the deaf-mute, was unable to understand the interpreter for deaf-mutes. Using his own signs, he reenacted the scene of last April, first playing the part of the landlord, going through the motions of drinking a bottle of wine and of beating a person, then in his own character, moving his hand as though lowering a revolver and pulling the trigger. To distinguish between the parts he placed his hand over one eye when acting as the landlord, who was blind in that eye. A juror asked whether the accused had intended to kill his landlord or merely to stop the beating. The interpreter went through motions intended to express the subtleties of this question, but no one could tell whether or no Deaf-mute understood. Me. Alleluia, for the defense made a plea in which he declared that the jury must necessarily return a verdict of acquittal, because it would be impossible to explain to Deaf-mute whether he was sentenced to six months in prison or 20 years at hard labor. The jury decided for acquittal. The interpreter made gestures meant to indicate the freedom of the great open spaces. Deaf-mute found it difficult in understanding this. He turned to the jury and shook his hands as a sign of gratitude. "Deaf-mute" may yet replace "insanity" as a popular plea.

It will mean that Atlanta, the metropolis of the southeast, and the golf, theatrical and cultural center of this great section, as well as the financial and mercantile center, will have hosts of visitors each day who would not stop en route if penalized in transportation costs for doing so.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

Conservative Democratic Leaders Wish to Avoid an Inter-Party Religious War.

Washington, January 25.—(Special.)—The extent and political perils to which the religious issue may enter into the forthcoming campaign is strikingly shown by the shrinking of public opinion here from being quoted upon it. They realize that the subject is loaded with dynamite and they want to keep as far away from it as they possibly can. Their common idea is to deplore the injection of it into the campaign in any shape and to personally keep off it until they may be forced by their constituents to make some specific avowal about it.

But so far as the democrats are concerned, Senator Tom Hefflin has at last succeeded in tearing off the lid of the party cage and letting loose the party Catholic cat into the party camp. For that his party colleagues are very generally calling him, in private, may lurid names.

Robinson's Rebuke Is Upheld. Because Senator Hefflin went so far in his virulent speech last Wednesday as to assume that he was speaking to the country for the democratic party, Senator Robinson, as accredited leader upon the floor of the senate, felt it to his duty to make the assumption. He made a full and forceful disclaimer and resented vehemently any suggestion that the spirit of Senator Hefflin's crusade against the Catholics is the spirit of the democrats of the nation.

Of course that brought on instantly a red-hot interchange between the senators in which Senator Hefflin was betrayed by his anger into a charge of Senator Robinson that to repeat his name in Alabama would subject him to a coat of tar and feathers. That remark was revolting to practical men, and it is not to be wondered that the finer citizens and presses of Alabama indignantly repudiated that statement, holding it to be a gross and repulsive slander upon the character of the people of the state and their spirit of just tolerations.

But the Cat Can't Be Belled. So far, so good; but that Hefflin would not be caught, belled and hounded. Until this incendiary speech by Senator Hefflin there was a growing belief that Governor Smith was of the mind, at an opportune moment, to declare sufficient personal and patriotic reasons for his desire to be the presidential nominee of the party this year. Only recently I heard those reasons very clearly stated by one of Governor Smith's closest personal and political friends.

But the Hefflin speech has changed the situation entirely. In the face of that speech Governor Smith could not withdraw from the fight, and he would not. He would not allow himself to be the victim of such an arrogant cowardice as would shame him out of public respect for the remainder of his life. No brave man, he would not allow himself to be the victim of such an arrogant cowardice as would shame him out of public respect for the remainder of his life. No brave man, he would not allow himself to be the victim of such an arrogant cowardice as would shame him out of public respect for the remainder of his life.

The Party Faces Armageddon. The issue that the democrats must now meet and settle is plain and inescapable. It is— "Should a great democrat be denied a religious nomination because he is a Catholic?" The fact that he is a "good" Catholic is no considerable ice now. If he were a Protestant, it might. And the fact that he is a "Mammy" has lost that has been made the fact that Hefflin of demagogues and it is upon that peculiarity of Smith's personality that the party is now divided.

The general idea is growing that, if he is to be denied a religious nomination, he should do so openly and frankly, and then take his chances in the national convention as they come. He should not be the victim of the decision reached by his party representatives in the regular party way.

But whether he will do that, or whether he will allow himself to be the victim of the decision reached by his party representatives in the regular party way, is another question. The fact that he is a "good" Catholic is no considerable ice now. If he were a Protestant, it might. And the fact that he is a "Mammy" has lost that has been made the fact that Hefflin of demagogues and it is upon that peculiarity of Smith's personality that the party is now divided.

The general idea is growing that, if he is to be denied a religious nomination, he should do so openly and frankly, and then take his chances in the national convention as they come. He should not be the victim of the decision reached by his party representatives in the regular party way.

The two elements in the party have each an ultimatum to propose. Those backing the New Yorker boldly say theirs is "Smith or Smithereens" while those who openly opposed to him say the actual slogan is "Smith and Smithereens."

In other words the Smith men say that if he is not nominated his friends will work the party's chances in certain states necessary to a national victory, while those opposed to Smith say that his nomination will alienate millions of dry and Protestant voters and jeopardize the party in a number of states, particularly some in the south, that have heretofore been reliably democratic in national contests. These conditions of mind continue and grow more perverse up to the meeting of the convention, there is sure to be a repetition in it of the riot in Madison Square Garden in 1924.

The only seeming way to avoid that defensive situation will be for Smith to get two-thirds of the delegates pledged to him before the convention meets, or for the opposition to make it plain they have more than a third of the delegates irrevocably pledged against him.

One-Third Plus Can Bar Him. It is taken for granted now that the two-thirds rule will govern the convention in making the nominations. Therefore, if the Smith opponents can make it quite certain that more than one-third of the delegates will refuse to vote for Smith's nomination in any case, the best his friends can do is to present his name, give him the full compliment of complimentary vote, and then withdraw him from further consideration.

The fact that a man enters a democratic national convention heavily loaded with complimentary votes, and then withdraws him from further consideration, has been often demonstrated.

The Smith people are counting confidently upon the inability of "far-left" delegates to consolidate their votes in the convention to abandon scattered voting and get to the real fight for the nomination.

They admit that the one man they fear could attract and crystallize the Smith opposition is Senator George, of Georgia, and that if the southern delegates should be solidly behind him they would win enough other delegates to make his nomination possible.

Between now and June there will be determined efforts on the part of the Smith supporters to secure the nomination. They wish to banish the religious issue from the preliminary campaign and the convention. They wish to keep the issue of the religious issue from the preliminary campaign and the convention. They wish to keep the issue of the religious issue from the preliminary campaign and the convention.

Cutting Off the Dog's Tail a Little at a Time Is Hard on the Knife as Well as Dog

By Robert Quillen

Down in Nicaragua there is a native of unusual ability who calls himself a patriot and a liberator. He has several hundred followers and all are well armed. Also they are brave and hardy and know how to shoot.

Because this man and his followers are opposing the established government, which has the backing of the United States, they are called "rebels" and outlaws.

Marines from the United States, assisted by natives who are loyal to the established government, are trying to overcome and destroy the "rebels."

They have been trying for a long time. And at frequent intervals the wires bring a story about another battle in which a few marines and many natives are killed.

The sympathies of America are divided. Some people think the United States government is doing its duty and serving the cause of civilization, and some think it is playing the part of a bully and murdering innocent men.

In either case the present policy is a wrong policy, for a man's life is worth much more than a few tons of metal.

This is a rich country; it is a humane country; it should spend any necessary sum of money rather than sacrifice the life of one of its servants to a mad dog.

Grant, if you will, that the natives being hunted are outlaws who should be killed. Grant that the United States is doing its duty. Grant that the marines must carry on their campaign until the last outlaw is slain.

Then why try to do the job with a few hundred marines who must fight against odds and be picked off one at a time by sharpshooters concealed behind rocks?

It is possible to put enough men in the field, equipped with guns the natives cannot match, to blow the last "rebel" into Kingdom Come without sacrificing the life of a single marine.

It should cost a great deal of money. But if the thing must be done, the American people had rather spend millions of dollars and do the job quickly without loss of life than to prolong the struggle for the sake of economy and lose scores of marines in the process.

A dozen marines, wounded and desperate, may lick 200 natives. It is a thrilling episode and tickles the national vanity. But a marine is a man, who loves life as others do. Why sacrifice him to save a little money?

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

BY ARTHUR DEAN, SC.-D.

THE OUTSIDER.

"I'll take Jack." "I choose John." "Come here, Bill, you're on my side." "I'll take Sam."

And the game starts with Artie left out in the cold. "It's always so. No matter what the sport or who is the leader or where the choosing takes place, poor Artie is always on the side line, a pathetic figure, dying his toes into the dust and trying in a multitude of ways to cover up his humiliation by appearing absolutely uninterested."

What are we to do with Artie? Or what is he to do for himself? There is another boy, Edward, who is also left out. But he does dig his toes into the ground and hide his feelings? No. He plays up the "compensatory" idea by bragging about his father's importance. According to Edward's tale his father is chief engineer and sits next to the president. The fact is he is a locomotive engineer and Edward throws this bluff because no one recognized him socially. If no one else puts him on the back at least he can pat himself.

Richard, too, is an "outsider." He never tries to make the team or participate in any group play. He suffers from seclusiveness caused very likely by an overdose of prudishness. Alas, poor Richard has been taught that "game are bad," "boys are rough," "all play makes Jack a dull boy." His early training has left him

CURTIS CONFESSES HE IS REAL DRY

MODERNISTIC TREND IS SEEN BY DICKSON

Washington, January 25.—(AP)—Efforts of Senator William E. Borah to pin down all republican presidential candidates on prohibition today drew from Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, a statement that he favored rigid enforcement of the dry laws and was opposed to repeal of either the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead act. It also precipitated another prohibition debate in the senate.

Curtis expressed his views in his reply to a questionnaire Borah is sending to all avowed candidates for the republican presidential nomination.

The Kansas senator declared opposition to a state determining the alcoholic content of liquor.

Later Borah said he was not prepared to say whether Curtis' reply was satisfactory.

Senator Bruce, democrat, Maryland, wet leader, declared he was more or less in accord with the Kansan's reply, because although "unquestionably dry it was not bone dry."

"Nowhere in the letter can I find that he is not in favor of amending or modifying the Volstead act by congress," declared Bruce.

Senator Sheppard, democrat, Texas, took up the cudgels for the dries, declaring the prohibition law "here to stay."

He went to the Bible for support of his argument and asked:

"Who will deny that prohibition is not in consonance with divinity?"

"Why, when prohibition came about, Adam and Eve began to see snakes," retorted Senator Bruce.

"The whisky minority is again marching on the capitol," declared the Texas senator. "It is time to tell the whole damp aggregation that the people will not permit the thirsty minority to tear down the laws."

Asserting that he intended to show actual prohibition conditions in the states of all presidential candidates, Bruce read extracts from a book entitled "Why the Volstead Act Should be Modified," which he said had been written by a Kansan.

Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, Bruce said, is the only candidate who has taken a firm and open stand on prohibition and he expressed regret that Governor Smith, of New York, had not expressed his views on prohibition in his last message to the legislature and Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, had seemed fit to say that he "deemed it proper that prohibition be not included in the next platform of the democratic party."

French Aviators Take an Alligator As Flying Mascot

Colon, Panama, January 25.—(AP)—An alligator, said here to be the first ever to go a-journeing by airplane, is serving as mascot for the French aviators, Dupleix-Coste and Joseph Lebrun, on the way to the United States from South America. The aviators, scarcely more than a foot long, were given to the trans-Atlantic fliers in Barranquilla, Colombia. He rode in a wooden box with a wire mesh top. As soon as the Frenchmen arrived here they listened to water the pet, which has been named "Seville" after the flying field at Barranquilla.

The aviators said today that they went alligator hunting last night. They bagged seven, one of them very long.

The French fliers have received an invitation from the Huntsville, Ala., Chamber of Commerce to visit that city on their way to New York. The invitation says that two local aviators will escort the Frenchmen to the Huntsville landing field where, it is predicted, there soon will be a big airport. The Frenchmen said "we are undecided whether we can stay at Huntsville but would like very much to see Alabama better than we can from the air only."

What Are You Doing in Face Of Greatest of All Perils?

Three Injured When Roadster

Overturns—That's just a small headline out of a recent Atlanta newspaper. Because accidents of its type are so frequent, they have ceased to count as "big news" and are given no particular display in the newspapers. But back of each item of the kind lies a story.

How many of the dead or injured even dreamed only a few minutes before the crash that tragedy was to single them out for disaster and leave them dead, maimed or injured? What percent of them had adequately provided for their comfort in event they were injured? How many had financially safeguarded the future of their wives and children in event of an accident?

What steps have you taken to protect yourself and your loved ones? The greatest peril the nation has ever known—an ever-mounting wave of traffic crashes that is sweeping the country from end to end—faces you and commands your attention.

Are you gambling with your own independence and the comfort of your family?

Insure today! You can do it cheaply and efficiently by taking advantage of The Constitution's offer to its readers.

The Constitution offers its readers the famous $7,500 travel accident policy issued by the North American Insurance company, of Chicago, an old and reliable concern which already has paid more than $53,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

The policy, which costs only $1.25 per year, provides for payment of sums ranging from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents. And the cost is only a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an on-rushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great offer. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 17 and 70 at $1.25 per year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, through an out-of-town carrier, monthly or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

FORMER ATLANTAN TO PUBLISH POEMS

Another former Atlantan, Miss Sonia Ruthene Novak, has gained national recognition for her literary genius and a collection of poems entitled "Winds From the Moon" will come from the presses of the Century Publishing company within the next few weeks, it was announced Wednesday in news dispatches from New York.

Miss Novak spent about two years in Atlanta, and attracted the attention of the late Frank Stanton, first poet laureate of Georgia. She contributed many feature poems to his column, "Just From Georgia," and won his admiration with her fascinating style.

Hundreds of friends will be pleased to learn of her success and also of the fact that the publishing company has taken an option on an unfinished novel.

While in Atlanta Miss Novak wrote a poem dedicated to Miss Nora Allen Volpi, prominent Atlanta soloist, and played a part with the Forsyth players. She has been interested practically all her life in literature and dramatics.

She has a poem in the May Century Magazine, which will be off the press within the next few weeks. It is called "For Sake of Auld Lang Syne."

T. C. DICKSON.

In the election, Russell Tarr, of Tampa, Fla., was named president, this being the first time a southern home furnisher has held that position in the national body, which is a powerful influence in the furniture industry, both as to retail dealers and consumers.

"The Grand Rapids market was in better condition than it has ever been," Mr. Dickson stated, "this being due to the fact that it was the 100th market held in that famous furniture center. Attendance was large and enthusiasm was at a high point. New styles, most attractive both as to design and combination of woods being brought out, were a feature of the market, and the spirit of the buyers seemed to be anticipatory of conservative progress for 1928."

"The Chicago market also enjoyed a record attendance and the majority of manufacturers reported a satisfactory volume. Buyers there also voiced a sentiment of optimism for this year."

Mr. Dickson, in addition to holding his office in the national association, is president of the Georgia Retail Furniture Dealers and chairman of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association. He is widely and popularly known here, having been engaged in the business here for 17 years. While in Chicago and Grand Rapids he made extensive purchases of home furnishings which are now arriving and will be shown in the modern and remodelled quarters of the Myers-Miller company.

"Renovating our building forced us to reduce our stock materially," he stated, "and these new and beautiful purchases will be placed on our spacious floors immediately in preparation for our opening announcement."

VICTOR ENGINEER TALKS TO DEALERS AT ELYEA LUNCH

H. H. Murray, consulting engineer of the Victor Talking Machine company, of Camden, N. J., who has been with the company for over 20 years, is visiting Atlanta and talked with dealers at a luncheon given Wednesday at the Elyea Lunching Machine company. The purpose of his visit is to meet the dealers intimately and to express to them the company's continued faith in finely reproduced music, which is fully justified by the wonderful success of the new creation, the Orthophonic Victrola, and also to learn from the dealers of the satisfaction and pleasure which their customers are expressing in the ownership and use of these musical instruments.

The leading thought expressed at the meeting was that the company's tremendous increase in its business during the last two years is a clear indication of the people's approval of the satisfactory performance of its new product.

WOODENWARE FIRM HERE IS PURCHASED BY LOCAL COMPANY

Announcement was made Wednesday of the purchase by the Sharp-Zachry-Horsey company, of the Atlanta Woodenware company.

Stock of the woodenware concern will be added to the extensive line of the purchasing concern, which is one of the largest wholesale hardware firms in the southeast.

The Sharp-Zachry-Horsey company, which was organized in 1921 as the Zachry-Horsey company, has just finished a banner year, according to the announcement of officials, having recorded the largest volume of business in 1927 than in any year since its organization.

About two years ago, Norman Sharp, formerly of the Crumley-Sharp Hardware company, became associated with the Zachry-Horsey company.

 decidedly well received. Jack Powell show on its head, and every ap-

 "Coney Island," opening today at the role of a demure ticket girl at Coney, who falls in love with a young millionaire—fairly prince stuff, and very, very entertaining, so the critics say. There is said to be a lot of dramatic interest in it, too. The fifth episode of the beauty parlor series,

 "The Alibi," which will be shown today at the Rialto, is a new release.

BY ELMO HAMBY,
 Scenario Contest Editor.

A general tightening and intensification of interest in the $200 prize scenario contest being staged by The Constitution and the Howard theater to select a film story, written by an Atlanta amateur to be made into an

 by the larger-than-ever flood of manuscripts which pours into the office.
 Only three more days remain. The to Hollywood immediately for the final consideration of Clara Bow, Belle Daniels, Adolphe Menjou and George Bancroft, who will give each manuscript careful consideration and select the winner.

 reprinted today for the last time. Save them.

A prize of $200 will be paid to the person sending in the scenario or synopsis which, in the opinion of the contest judges, is most suitable for

The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. One spoonful of this harmless tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

being made principally in Champer island.

"The attractive and outstanding features of the situation are: First, the high natural fertility of the soil, and secondly, the magnificent natural irrigation and drainage facilities. With these two factors afforded by Providence, man should be ashamed not to be able to work almost miracles. "The old rice planter did his work well and must have had the advice of engineers from Holland laid down the irrigation and drainage plan. It corresponds closely to the modern practice. These old rice plantations were originally express swamps which were cleared by slave labor. One can imagine the interminable toil, expense and patience that this work involved. Today, with our modern contrivances, the work would be comparatively easy and simple."

650 Acres Cultivable. Colonel Houston said that Champer island contains a cultivable area of about 650 acres, divided into squares of about 20 acres. Each square has an enclosing ditch accompanied by a large marginal ditch, and is otherwise completely equipped for speedy irrigation.

Due to the fluctuation of eight feet of the tide which ebbs and flows twice in 24 hours, Colonel Houston explained, it is possible to flood the land in water five feet deep, if necessary. Thus, he explains, irrigation can be effected at high tide and drainage at low tide. After the war he continued operation of the baseball club until it won the world series pennant in 1923. He then came to south Georgia to rest, but became so interested in Georgia agriculture that he has obtained little or no rest, save that which comes after a hard day's work, he admits.

AVONDALE LANDSCAPE PROGRAM UNDER WAY A landscaping program of lavish proportions, designed to create one of the most impressively beautiful residential areas in America, will be actively resumed immediately at Avondale Estates to take full advantage of the spring planting season, according to announcement Wednesday.

C. M. Huff, in active charge of beautification work, outlined plans which will furnish natural floral and shade adornment for 14 full miles of street frontage in Avondale. "Within two years Avondale will be one of the real beauty spots of the country," said Mr. Huff, in explaining that more than 35,000 shade trees, evergreens and flowering shrubs already had been set out in pursuance of plans made by G. F. Willis, developer of Avondale, at inception of work there. The original plans were made in collaboration with R. B. Crisland, of Philadelphia, one of the foremost landscape engineering figures of the country.

In the work which Mr. Huff says is now starting for the spring season, the Avondale estate will be terraced and planted with a variety of evergreens and ornamental shrubs, all beds next to the curb will be set out with spreading shade trees and crape myrtle, and all parks and parkways will be studded with colorful plants and evergreens. In a few years the streets now being planted will be beautifully shaded avenues. Throughout the whole growing season they will be ablaze on one side with every color of the rainbow.

Among the varieties of flowering plants being transplanted from among the more than 10,000 now growing in Avondale nurseries were spirea (bridal veil), forsythia, yucca, bud-dum, fragmentissima, abelia grandiflora, lilac, japonica, althea and many others.

In addition, all property owners in Avondale are being supplied free of cost with a variety of vines and fruit trees.

JUNIOR PRESS CLUB FORMED BY SCHOOLS

The Junior Press club, an organization composed of staff members of student publications in the Atlanta schools, their faculty advisers and members of Atlanta newspaper staffs, was organized Wednesday night at a meeting held at the Oakdale road home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Elsas.

Richard Clark, editor of The Constitution's school page and a student of Boys' High school, was named president; Miss Eugenie Naff, of Washington, secretary; vice president, Miss Vernon Ogletree, of Girls' High school, secretary, and Joe Veal, of Tech High, treasurer.

The nominating committee presenting these names was composed of Reed Hunter, assistant superintendent of schools; Bill Horner and Miss Jean Nutting.

Following their election, the officers were instructed to prepare a constitution and by-laws for the club, to be presented at a meeting to be called by Mrs. Elsas and the president. The club plan calls for cooperation between the staffs of the student publications and of the Atlanta newspapers with a view to promoting standards of journalism being studied in the local schools.

The Press club is directly the outgrowth of a meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elsas last year, when student publications engaged in a Junior Red Cross contest for prizes on the basis of their merit. At that time the suggestion was made for formation of the school press club, and the plan was worked out Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Elsas at that time were hosts to members of the student staffs, faculty officials, members of the city board of education and local newspapermen and newspaperwomen at an elaborate dinner.

OIL PROBE FIGURE CANNOT RETURN NOW, HE ASSERTS

Washington, January 25.—(P)—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, whose testimony is sought by the senate lands committee in its new oil investigation, will not return to Washington immediately.

Advised over the telephone tonight by L. L. Stephens, his personal counsel, that the committee would like to have his testimony as soon as practicable, Stewart who is in Havana, Cuba, said that important business engagements required that he leave the Cuban capital next Monday for Mexico.

He expects to conclude his visit to that country early in February and then will proceed to Washington and place himself at the disposal of the lands committee which today adjourned its hearings until next Tuesday.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, prosecutor in the investigation, desires to question the Indiana Standard company official as to the operations of the Continental Trading company, Limited, of Chicago, and particularly as to what disposition was made of the $3,000,000 of profits which that company made in the purchase and resale of oil from the Mexican fields of the late A. E. Humphreys, of Denver.

BAPTIST WOMEN MISSION LEADERS TO CONVENE TODAY

More than 1,000 delegates are expected to attend annual session of the first district Baptist Women's Missionary union, the first of which will be held at the First Baptist church at 10 o'clock this morning.

The meetings, which will be continued tonight and Friday, will include business and entertainment features, it was announced by Mrs. Wilbur M. Jones, district superintendent. Election of officers will be held Friday afternoon.

This morning's session will be featured by the address of the district superintendent, and in the afternoon a "demonstration" will be presented to the assembled delegates by a group of orphans from the Hapeville Orphans' home.

SEEK FARM RELIEF BY TARIFF BOOST

Washington, January 25.—(P)—The fire of advocates for farm relief legislation by congress today was directed again toward higher tariffs on agricultural imports—this offensive momentarily overshadowing that for settlement of the surplus problem by law.

Representative Sinclair, republican, North Dakota, introduced a resolution which called upon the house ways and means committee to investigate tariff schedules for agriculture and industry with a view to readjusting them "more adequately." This was the latest development in the house farm bloc tactics aimed to force a tariff increase on farm products. Several such resolutions have already been introduced.

For the second consecutive day the house agriculture committee deferred consideration of farm relief legislation to hear further protests against other $10,000,000 appropriation for corn borer control. There appeared to be more interest, however, in new export debenture plan to help agriculture which is to be backed by the National Grange. Representative Ketchum, Michigan, a republican, member of the agriculture committee, said he expects to introduce this plan in a bill tomorrow.

An alliance between western and southern forces in congress to assure farm legislation was demanded tonight by Representative Abernethy, democrat, North Carolina, speaking over the radio. This, he said, would assure sufficient votes to override a presidential veto, if necessary, he added.

HARKNESS ESTATE SETS NEW RECORD

New York, January 25.—(P)—The largest estate ever recorded by the New York state tax department was left by Anna M. Harkness, widow of the late Stephen A. Harkness, a co-founder with John D. Rockefeller of the Standard Oil company, it was revealed today with the filing of the appraisal.

The appraisal sets a gross valuation of $107,052,494 and a net valuation of $103,232,048 upon her holdings. Mrs. Harkness died in 1926, aged 88. Tax department officials said that no other resident of the state has left within $20,000,000 of the Harkness fortune since the department was organized in 1885. The estate had to pay $18,000,000 in inheritance tax levies, of which $3,750,000 went to this state, $1,825,225 to twelve other states and $12,000,000 to the federal government.

ment presentations will be staged tonight when the association will witness a pageant, "The Light of the Cross," to be held at the First Baptist church.

SCHOONER BREAKS MOORINGS; JAMS UNDER BRIDGE

Norfolk, Va., January 25.—(P)—Swept from her moorings by a stiff southwest wind, the four masted schooner Sally Wren crashed into the Norfolk-Berkley bridge across the eastern branch of the Elizabeth river last night and was badly damaged. The bowsprit, head gear and all the rigging as far back as the foremast was carried away and the foremast was snapped off. The force of the wind jammed the ship under the bridge and considerable difficulty is expected to be encountered in getting her out.

STYLE draws Motor Show attention to the charming exhibit of Nash

NASH is winning the Motor Show crowds by its charming exhibit of motor car style.

There is a finer mode of motor-ing—you will be conscious of it when you view the Nash display. There is an inner circle of motor-ing satisfaction, and Nash owners have found it.

They ride surrounded by exceptional luxury—on deep-buttoned and tufted form-fitted cushions upholstered in fabrics of exquisite tone and texture. Inlaid walnut and walnut finish paneling in both knurled and straight grain, and inlaid walnut steering wheels add style to Nash coachcraft.

You will notice also the charm of Nash Colonial interiorware, inspired in design by Early American silversmiths. Nash colors are still another style note, applied as they are by the Nash deep-lustre process, which imparts depth and sheen to their beauty.

Every Nash detail is correct—fine in quality—and, furthermore, Nash prices are amazingly low. (They start at $865 and go no higher than $1990, f.o.b. the factory.)

Nash is the style center, and the value center, of all the cars displayed at the Show. Be sure to see this charming exhibit of the best in modern motoring.

The dentifrice that became a leader in 4 years

From "scratch" to a position among the leaders in four years! Certainly there is no better evidence of the merit of Listerine Tooth Paste than this remarkable record.

If you have not tried this delightful dentifrice at 25c, do so now. Compare its results to those of any dentifrice at any price. You will find that it accomplishes more than dentifrices that cost sometimes twice as much.

Note particularly how quickly it cleans the teeth. The speediest dentifrice known! This is due to the presence of a remarkable new polishing agent of the gentlest character. Observe how thoroughly it cleans your teeth and heightens their lustre. Note too, that wonderful refreshed feeling of the mouth and gums after the brushing is over. Nothing like it.

Only the most modern methods of manufacture permit such a splendid paste at such a price. Isn't it worth trying? Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Tuneful 'Petrel Follies' Cast Appears at Forsyth Tonight

The tuneful "Petrel Follies," brilliantly and spectacularly staged by a talented cast made up of persons prominent in society and the student body of Oglethorpe university, to be presented Thursday and Friday evenings at the Forsyth theater, is an event of musical and educational importance as well as social, for the proceeds accruing from the nominal admission fee of $1 will help swell the remaining $50,000 to the Oglethorpe fund to be raised to match the $250,000 already donated by J. T. Lupton, the Chattanooga magnate, who donated a quarter of a million dollars through the university president, Dr. Thornehill Jacobs.

Rehearsals for the review have been held almost daily since the first of January under the direction of Earl Blackwell, gifted director and developer of the follies, who studied stagecraft at Columbia and is a member of Oglethorpe dramatic class, which is directed by Professor James E. Routh. The production will be lavishly staged as a greater portion of the scenery and costumes have been brought to Atlanta from Philadelphia to furnish an artistic background for the snappy production having the merit of ringing its curtain down at 10:30 o'clock, as one feature of the other is executed with a most professional gesture. "Down the Church Aisle," a wedding scene of exquisite beauty and charm, presents those newly weds, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hearst, as the bride and groom. They were recently married in New York at a brilliant ceremony, Mrs. Hearst having been Miss Dorothy Hart, of Los Angeles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Hart, while Mr. Hearst is a son of William Randolph Hearst, nationally known publisher. Costumes for the wedding scene and Hearst show will be selected from J. P. Allen & Co.'s collection of fashionable gowns, and the Oglethorpe university orchestra plays the music for the Petrel Follies. Those irresistible and charming twins, Misses Helen and Olive Parrish, whose resemblance to one another makes it impossible to tell them apart, will put on a very attractive number entitled "Short Change."

Fashion Show.

A fashion show of the latest and most correct attire for both ladies and men's clothes will be given at the house of the follies, the clothes being furnished by George Muse Clothing company, Cody Laird, president of the Oglethorpe Players, is acting as business manager for the follies. George Holloway is director of the Oglethorpe orchestra and musical director for the show and Dwight Horton is dancing.

Miss Louise Madden, vice president of the Players' club, is one of the most talented and versatile of its members. At the Women's club performance, she literally brought down the house in the comic role of "V. Leetabler," and later she appeared with her brother, Paul Madden, in a Bowery dance. Miss Eugenia Buchanan, mezzo-soprano, sings "My Man," and will give several vocal encores.

Among those contributing their talents to the Follies in specially-devised numbers are Misses Marion Wolff, Helena Calloway, Angel Allen, Mary Harris, Carol Thompson, Mary X. Gunter, Evelyn Branch, Mary Buchanan, Harriet Hason, Ruth Brooks, Gertrude Murray, Louise Madden, Elsie Prater, Theodosia Hinnitt, Yeola Stitt, Betty Stripling, Helen Parrish, Olive Parrish, Virginia Ricks, Marie Louise Harvey, LaFrance Montclair, Kitty Park, Eugenia Buchanan, Bill Perkins, Allan Watkins, Murphy Judd, Jack Sutton, Frank Inman, Charles Willis, Fred Boynton, Bob Shepherd, Paul Madden, Stuart Gould, Fred Griffin, Tom Daniel, Major Gutierrez, Dwight Horton, Puss Allen, Shimmey Sheridan, Austell Thornton, Bill Tye, and others.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaracol, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give complete satisfaction or money promptly refunded.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

Miss R. writes: "It is a well-known axiom that a woman should always strive to look neat and attractive. In trying to do this, I ruined my face. I thought there was too much hair on it and pulled them out. As a consequence, I'm a wreck, and am living the life of a hermit. However, now I am striving to salvage the wreckage and am asking your help."

Dear Miss R., stop chiding yourself for having brought your unfortunate condition on yourself. The fact that the hair on your face was disfiguring enough to make you want to remove it in the first place shows that there was already some disturbance.

The cause of the growth of hair on a woman's face is obscure. It may be a racial or family trait, or there may be some trouble in the internal glands that govern the chemistry of the body. I suggest you go to a physician who specializes in internal medicine and have a complete examination to see if the cause can be discovered.

Nature undoubtedly at times mixes up the characteristics of the male and female, and if the cause in your case is congenital, you may have to accept it.

The electric needle is said to be the only safe, permanent remedy, but of course if the hair is very extensive this might be impractical and you might have to continue to use an epilating wax or a depilatory or a safety razor. I'm glad to see you are going to stop your self-pity and stop making a hermit of yourself, for you can't be of any service to the world in that way.

I think of a most successful and beloved woman physician of my acquaintance, with an adoring husband and family, who has a growth of hair on her face just like a man's beard. Very few people know of it. I know she keeps a good supply of safety razors, and before she goes out in the morning and when she goes out in the evening, she shaves. With a little powder, the hairs are not at all observable. She has not permitted her affliction to mar her life nor affect her usefulness in any way.

(We have an article on the subject which gives a prescription for a depilatory and one for an epilating wax, which you may have by sending a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and two cents with your request.)

Dangerous to Gain?
Mrs. E. wants to know if I agree with some physicians that it is dangerous for one who has always been very thin to put on weight when she reaches middle age?

It all depends upon the degree of underweight, Mrs. E. It is generally believed that slight underweight, comparing with the average weight, seems to be conducive to better health and longevity. You would probably tell by your own feeling—if you are strong, vigorous and full of pep, perhaps your thinness is just right for you, but if you are weak and tire easily, it is certainly better for you to gain some. And rather than being dangerous to health, it should improve it.

The pamphlet on gaining and losing weight was sent to you, as you enclosed ten cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for it. Apropos of gaining, one of the followers recently wrote that she found that four ounces of half milk and half cream, taken every two hours during the day, in conjunction with her regular meals, brought her up to her wanted weight. Four ounces of half milk and half cream would be approximately 150 calories; taken five or six times during the day, it would amount to a considerable number of calories, you see, besides giving good energy food, this combination gives very valuable repair, vitamins and mineral food.

THE CONNOISSEUR

For an hour or two the Connoisseur has tried to catch a word. But the music of the orchestra is all that he has heard, and indeed it would be difficult for any one to hear. With a saxophonist blowing melodies into his ear.

Now conversing is impossible with any of the girls. But at least he can observe a charming band of tiny pearls. And although the conversation he can never hope to grasp. It is pleasant to be able to admire the crystal clasp.

And he knows that they are saying very many clever things. While he gazes at a bracelet made of pearls and crystal rings. But it looks so very charming on a dainty little wrist. Vandle can't be very sorry for the words that he has missed.

And he leans upon the table till his arm is out of joint. While they tell a funny story—then he fails to hear the point. But he cheerfully forgets it as he finds a compensation in a necklace of a lovely pearl and rhinestone combination.

Texan Recalls an Incident of His Childhood, Back Home—Something that Retains Its Place in Homes of Today.

Leigh, Texas.—"When I was just a child at home, my parents considered Theodor's Black-Draught a family medicine, and for many years among us children my mother would bring forth the little yellow box of Black-Draught, and we knew what that meant," says Mr. J. "When I became grown, I took Black-Draught for constipation. Now I use it in my home as a family remedy. I have never found anything better."

I HAVE SAID IN MY HEART

BY IDAH M'GLONE GIBSON.

Yes, one knows that the word "patriot" has gone out of fashion. One is aware that demagogues and fakers have abused the word until people of decency and sane ideas have come to look upon a man who proclaims himself as a Patriot—with a capital P—as some one who wants something for himself—a man who sides with that famous owner of a railroad who said "The public be damned."

Nevertheless, it is only the patriots of a nation who really make its history. It is only the patriots—those who have thought more of their country than of themselves—who have brought that country to prosperity and success.

The world war has shown us that women bear the hardships and the self-sacrifice with their men. It has shown that women can be relied upon to rise to the big occasions the same as men, and it shows they neglect many of the little duties of life the same as men. Human nature knows no sex. Women are quite as thoughtful, quite as selfish, quite as impatient, quite as grasping as our men. We are finding this out during peace.

Prohibition is a law of this land, and yet there are few women today who feel that they are being unpatriotic and lawless when they serve liquor in their homes. Many women will tell you with quiet glee that they have smuggled in all sorts of trinkets and furbelows every time they have made a trip to the other side.

Few women care to use their influence to help carry into effect the laws of sanitation by complaining of the men who expectorate in the street cars and on the sidewalks. Only a few seem interested in the fact that the United States is more addicted to narcotics than any other country in the world, more addicted than India, where narcotics grow.

Few pay any attention to the conservation of the morals of our young men and women through giving them proper amusement and few interest themselves in the proper adjustments of weights and measures by which one may receive what he pays for.

To love anyone is to have the best interests of that person at heart. To love one's country means the same thing.

Memo: Every woman in the land who has the advantage and privileges of this great country should remember that as a citizen and a patriot she must take an interest in its affairs and its people and she must comply with all its laws.

Mr. Van de View Misses the Conversation

And he knows that they are saying very many clever things. While he gazes at a bracelet made of pearls and crystal rings. But it looks so very charming on a dainty little wrist. Vandle can't be very sorry for the words that he has missed.

And he leans upon the table till his arm is out of joint. While they tell a funny story—then he fails to hear the point. But he cheerfully forgets it as he finds a compensation in a necklace of a lovely pearl and rhinestone combination.

NEGROES CONFESS CLEVELAND DEATH

Confessions to the slaying of W. H. Cleveland, manager of the gasoline filling station at Houston and Boulevard, on January 12, have been obtained from two negroes by city detectives, it was learned Friday. Police said that they are looking for a third negro implicated in the fatal holding. Both of the negroes held try to lay the blame for the fatality on the other, detectives said.

The first suspect was arrested late Monday night and gave the name of Charlie Mapp. Following Mapp's arrest, he confessed that he and a third negro, Fred Taylor, were the ones who had been in the holdup. Both of the negroes held try to lay the blame for the fatality on the other, detectives said.

The second suspect was arrested late Monday night and gave the name of Charlie Mapp. Following Mapp's arrest, he confessed that he and a third negro, Fred Taylor, were the ones who had been in the holdup. Both of the negroes held try to lay the blame for the fatality on the other, detectives said.

Several suspects were arrested shortly after the shooting, and were identified by citizens as having been seen near the scene of the slaying. The slayers were still at large, continued their investigations.

Both of the confessions set out that the pair held by detectives met with the third negro on the morning of January 12 and made a survey of the filling station. They knew that Cleveland kept his pistol in view on top of his desk, and they found it there on the morning of the shooting, they said. In the robbery one of the negroes grabbed Cleveland's gun and shoved him into a corner, they said. The gun went off accidentally, shooting Cleveland, and they fled, according to the confessions.

GEORGIA'S DEATH RATE AT LOWEST POINT, SAYS REPORT

Georgia's death rate for 1927, as compared with the rate for 1926, was reduced more than 52 per cent, said the state board of health at its annual meeting at Dr. J. F. Abernethy, state commissioner of health.

Dr. Abernethy declared that while the figures were only provisional and subject to later revision, they still could be regarded as a reliable index of the work being done in conquering communicable diseases and other health conditions in the state. He declared the report to be the most remarkable issued by the health board during his 10 years at its head. The death rate has dropped from approximately 19 per thousand to only 9.9 per thousand.

Georgia's infant mortality rate, it was shown, was lower in 1927 than in any previous year recorded in the state.

The board meeting, held at the state capitol, was presided over by Robert E. Maddox, Atlanta, board president. Other speakers included Governor Hardman and members of the board of health. The board voted to hold its mid-summer meeting in Crawfordville, as guest of John A. Rhodes, a member of the board.

Chain grocery stores proved popular with burglars early Wednesday morning, according to police reports. Two Rogers' stores, one at 741 Edgewood avenue and the other at 944 Virginia avenue, and a Piggly Wiggly store at 942 Virginia avenue were entered and robbed of tobacco and groceries. The Virginia avenue stores were entered through the roof.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creosolium, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creosolium is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creosolium contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creosolium is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

FLIVVER PILOT LANDS AT SPARTANBURG, S. C.

Spartanburg, S. C., January 25.—(AP)—Harry Brooks brought his Ford biplane down at the Spartanburg airport at 5:03 o'clock this afternoon, coming from Asheville. He covered the 70 miles from the North Carolina city in 35 minutes.

BROOKS HOPS OFF AFTER THREE ATTEMPTS.

Asheville, N. C., January 25.—(AP)—Harry J. Brooks and his "Flivver" airplane, which dropped down out of the sky onto a hilltop near here late yesterday when storms halted a non-stop flight from Detroit to Miami, Fla., then afternoon got started back to his home port by way of Spartanburg, S. C., and Washington.

The start, like his arrival, was a thrilling affair. Brooks attempted at noon to take off from the small field on which he had landed. Three times the miniature plane, with a wing spread of 20 feet and a two-cylinder motor, refused to leave the ground. Then a truck and tractor were called in and the plane carted to the Biltmore estate Mrs. Joseph P. A. McCall, which has the largest level field in this section.

The plane prepared, the pilot announced a last-minute change in plans. He had expected to hop to Greensboro, N. C., to replenish his gasoline supply and thence to Washington. The late hour of the start and the fact that it was less than two hours before sundown caused him to decide to go to the air mail field at Spartanburg, S. C., instead of Greensboro.

McGugin Speaks On Water Power At Council Meet

Dan McGugin, football coach at Vanderbilt university and one of the best-known athletic mentors in the south, spoke Wednesday before the Atlanta Safety council at the Ansley hotel on the water-power potentialities of the Tennessee river and its tributaries. Mr. McGugin is also counsel for the Tennessee Manufacturers' association.

Mr. McGugin pointed out that while the Tennessee river now is almost useless due to undevelopment, it could be transformed into a great source of power by stabilization and regulation of the flow, which would be made possible by a system of storage reservoirs. Nitrogen fixation as a means of producing fertilizers, at the Muscle Shoals dam was ridiculed by Mr. McGugin, who pointed out that the method of producing fertilizers by synthetic ammonia, which was originated by the Germans during the world war, was much cheaper than extraction of nitrates from the air.

The great value of inter-connected water power lines between states was pointed out by Mr. McGugin, who said that while Georgia, for instance, might be having a little or no rainfall during a month, its sister state, Alabama, might have an over-abundance. By the simple shutting of a switch, under the plan, it would be possible to transfer about 80,000 horsepower from Alabama to Georgia, he said.

Mr. McGugin condemned the Madden bill, now before congress, which proposes to turn over Wilson Dam and the plant at Muscle Shoals to the Air Nitrate association, the power therefrom to be available for manufacturing purposes. The company, he said, would not be obligated to supply nitrates or power for the benefit of the nation.

ELKS' MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN HEADS TO REPORT TONIGHT

Reports of workers in the selective membership campaign of Atlanta Lodge No. 78, Elks, will be made at 8 o'clock tonight at the Elks home, 730 Peachtree street, according to announcement.

The campaign is making splendid progress, according to Dr. Herbert E. Kennedy, chairman, and George W. West, vice chairman, and the Elks feel sure that their goal in membership will be reached in the allotted time. Initiation of several new members will also take place at tonight's meeting.

Following the meeting, Dr. Charles E. Boynton will deliver a lecture on the subject of the Good Samaritan clinic and underprivileged children of the community. A large delegation from the Atlanta lodge will leave Saturday for Augusta, Ga., where playground equipment at Gracewood, donated by the Elks, will be dedicated.

U. S. NOT BLAMED BY LLOYD GEORGE FOR 'FOOL SPEECH'

Plymouth, England, January 25.—(United News)—The United States has no monopoly on fools," David Lloyd George, former premier, said today in connection with the recent speech of Rear Admiral Plunkett, U. S. N., pointing to the dangers of war.

Lloyd George returned to England today after a short vacation in South America.

"There have been equally foolish speakers in England," he said, "America can no more be held responsible for Plunkett's speech than we for the speeches which are perpetrated in this country."

LOCAL COACH COMPANY TO RESIST REGULATION

The Atlanta Coach company, a subsidiary of the Georgia Power company, Wednesday served notice on the state public service commission that it will resist regulation of its service and rates on the ground that such jurisdiction is not extended to all other bus companies throughout the state which are operating as common carriers. It was announced by James A. Perry, chairman of the commission.

This decision grows out of an effort of the commission general to collect from the Atlanta Coach company its proportional part of the fees collected by the controller general for the maintenance of the Georgia public service commission, payment of which has been refused, which will result in the issuance of a fine and when this is levied, the matter will go to court for determination.

The Atlanta Coach company is owned by the Georgia Power company, and operates a bus service over certain streets, largely outlying territory beyond the streets on which street railway service is furnished. It is claimed by the coach company that the special fee proposed to be collected is due only from such public service corporations or utilities as are subject to the jurisdiction of the public service commission, and that the public service commission has no jurisdiction over the coach company for reasons above given. It is understood the commission will ask the controller general in the collection of the fee.

At a coroner's inquest yesterday afternoon it developed that Chief Wallis was unarmed when shot by Melton. The chief had not been wished for several days and had not wished to be hardened with a gun. Melton is thought to have been mentally unbalanced, temporarily at least. Since his dismissal from the force by Chief Wallis on a petty theft charge which Melton did not regard as sufficient excuse for his discharge, Melton had been unable to secure employment and his family was in poor circumstances. He is thought to have brooded over his fancied wrongs and when his children went to school without breakfast Tuesday morning to have reached a determination to slay the man whom he held responsible for his misfortunes.

Slain Police Head And His Slayer Buried in Albany

Albany, Ga., January 25.—(AP)—Funeral services for Chief of Police R. S. Wallis, who was slain in the city hall Tuesday by R. O. Melton, discharged patrolman, were held here this afternoon at the First Methodist church. Melton, who committed suicide after mortally wounding his former superior, was buried this morning.

Members of the city commission and city employees attended Chief Wallis' funeral in a body. Two local Masonic lodges had charge of services at the grave.

PADEREWSKI TICKET SALE TO OPEN TODAY

The ticket sale for the Paderewski concert will open this morning at Phillips & Crew Piano company, where it will continue daily until the afternoon of the concert, Wednesday night, February 1.

A special sale was held Wednesday for the members of the club, which resulted in about one-third of that famous high guarantee of Paderewski being reached. With the out-of-town reservations and a week sale before the concert, Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, the club president, feels confident that the club will realize a neat sum.

Paderewski, in arranging for his tour, made a special request to include Atlanta, saying that if he could not appear under auspices of the Atlanta Music club he would not stop in the south but go directly to the west. He remembers with almost childish pleasure the enthusiasm of the Atlanta audience and also that it was the third largest attendance he drew in the United States tour.

Paderewski will be remembered not only as a master of the keyboard, but also as a leader of a country. Marshal Foch in speaking to a group of French and Polish press representatives in Paris said: "If it had not been for Paderewski there would have been no Poland." It has been said that he was the greatest orator of the peace conference.

This great pianist-statesman is offering a varied and rare program including a group of familiar Chopin numbers, Schubert-Liszt, Beethoven, Schumann and will close with his own "Melodie in B Major," and the Liszt Hungarian Rhapsody No. 6.

Clear Weather, Rising Mercury Seen for Today

Fair weather, with rising temperatures after a freezing spell this morning, is forecast for today by C. F. von Herrmann, U. S. meteorologist.

Temperatures this morning are expected to be in the 20s and 30s, with a rise to 50 degrees this afternoon. The weather will be warmer starting this afternoon, the weather bureau expects as the results of a low pressure area which is predicted over the plains states.

Temperatures Wednesday ranged from a minimum of 36 to a maximum of 46 degrees. Temperatures have fallen generally throughout the south and east and remain rather low in the northwest with 6 degrees below zero at Havre, Mont., but no very cold weather is indicated for Atlanta, where the minimum this morning will probably be about 30 degrees. The temperature will then rise, with continued fair weather, the weather bureau predicted.

Numbers, Schubert-Liszt, Beethoven, Schumann and will close with his own "Melodie in B Major," and the Liszt Hungarian Rhapsody No. 6.

Harry C. Mitchell, president, had a note of prosperity for the stockholders gathered in annual session here. He announced that the company had recently added $1,500,000 to its capital. Part of this was for the purchase of substantial stock interests. Capital and surplus of the company, he said, is now $1,112,190.07.

Besides Bob Jones, whose father is also a director in the concern, George W. Powell and C. S. Sargent were added to the directorate. ## BONDSMAN GIVEN TERM IN PRISON; LARCENY CHARGED

Sam M. Davis, professional bondsman, was found guilty late Wednesday afternoon of larceny after being sentenced to one to three years by Judge Virgil B. Moore, of Fulton superior court. Defense attorneys filed motion for a new trial.

Davis, who operates an office next to police station on Decatur street, was accused of having misappropriated $800 in cash said to have been paid him by a negro woman as security for a bond.

According to testimony, Davis had accepted the sum from the negro as collateral for bond for her husband in a prohibition case, and refused to return the money when the negro man had been delivered from a chafing sentence.

Defense attorneys contended Davis had used the money to defray various costs in the case.

CHILD IS SAVED FROM FIRE DEATH BY NEGRO NURSE

Harry Gregg, 4, 234 Rawson street, was rescued at Grand house, Wednesday morning for burns about the face and hands received in a fire in a fuel house back of his home. Prompt action of Florence Richardson, negro nurse, saved the child's life, it was reported. The nurse heard the child's screams and removed him to safety. The fuel house was destroyed, but firemen prevented the blaze from spreading.

QUOTATIONS OF STOCKS, BONDS, GRAINS, LIVESTOCK

GRAIN VALUES

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago, January 25.—(AP)—Grain values here went lower today, responsive to Wall Street weakness, and unlooked for downturns in wheat quotations at Liverpool. Chicago closing prices for wheat were unsettled at 1-2/3 to 5-cent to 1-cent net decline, with corn 1 cent to 1-1/2 cent, and provisions varying from 10 cents drop to a rise of 7 cents.

Orders to sell on wheat holdings, and thus put a limit to losses, were automatically forced into action by the downward swing of the wheat market. Important buying occurred to the southwest developed, however, at the lower levels reached, and helped to bring about something of a rally in the late trading. On the other hand, export demand for wheat from North America continued to be slow, and there were reports of few cheaper offerings of Argentine wheat at Liverpool.

Persistent complaints of dry weather in domestic wheat territory were associated with buying orders from the southwest. In 1927, a similar situation, particular notice was taken of an official report that a considerable amount of wheat in the western third of Kansas had failed to germinate, and that wheat receipts at western points since July 1 had totaled only 1,700,000 bushels against 2,300,000 in the corresponding time the year previous, but that the parallel disappearance was 208,000,000 bushels compared with 252,000,000 bushels.

Aspicious weather conditions for the movement of the corn crop was a factor conducive to lower corn prices. Besides arrivals at today's market, on a liberal scale of arrivals, leading markets, Country offerings, though, were light. Oats declined with grain.

Provisions averaged easier, reflecting the course of hog values and of grain.
